

Jenny Nolan

@jennygirlstudio

Jenny Nolan was born in 1987 in Point Pleasant, New Jersey, and lives and works in Jersey City, New Jersey. She graduated with a BFA from Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University.

Jenny is inspired by living on Earth and looking around. She is particularly interested in the environmental and physical stories of cities or sites. Through her work, she rigorously explores and researches specific sites or objects. The artmaking process is a meditative experience. She then presents the findings of her meditations via various materials that offer visual, auditory, and textural perception.
