

Laura van der Meule photographed in her Jersey City studio by Megan Maloy

Laura van der Meule

@louravandermeuleart

Laura van der Meule, a native of the Netherlands, has lived and worked for many years in Jersey City, New Jersey. She started her art education in the Netherlands at the School for Design and Decor 'NIMETO' in Utrecht and graduated from the Academy of the Visual Arts 'Sint Joost' in Breda, the Netherlands, in 1980.

Laura makes oil pastel drawings on paper and sometimes incorporates acrylic paint or graphite into her work. She finds inspiration in the urban landscape, industrial architecture, and Dutch culture. Her work was in numerous group exhibitions in galleries and museums in the Netherlands and the United States.
